For Arco 2018, Eduardo Navarro will present Into Ourselves, a series of edible drawings inspired by the “holographic principle,” which describes how cosmic information can be transformed but not destroyed. The project will be presented in the section entitled The Future, curated by Chus Martínez, Elise Lammer and Rosa Lleó. The section explores how our actions and responsibility towards art and culture might be different in the future.

Based on digestion, transformation and joy, Navarro's work rethinks the parameters for the appreciation of art. As curator Chus Martinez explains, "[t]hinking about the power of the market, and the aggressiveness against complex thinking, art, and artists, the idea of not destroying but metabolizing art seems like an important proposal." In his latest projects Eduardo Navarro has been engaged in an investigation of our "body perception" and in an exploration of the sensibilities through which we contemplate art and become a part of it. During the fair, the artist will present a series of 50 edible drawings (21 x 29 cm each), some of which will be cooked and eaten during the fair.

Made with edible ink and paper, the drawings will be displayed in acrylic casings designed to conserve the drawings as food would be preserved. Throughout the length of the fair, the artist will make use of a stove top near the display to cook the drawings in a soup. The piece preambles the artist's upcoming solo show Into Ourselves at the Drawing Center (Apr. 6 – Apr. 22, 2017) for which the piece was originally developed and commissioned

about eduardo navarro

Eduardo Navarro was born in 1979 in Buenos Aires, Argentina, where he currently lives and works. Navarro's artistic practice is research-focused; he delves into scientific, legal or spiritual studies in order to ground his performances. For his participatory, community-based projects, Navarro often collaborates with various specialists, from priests to mountain climbers to homeopaths. The artist often invites participants to engage with the final products of his work while simultaneously documenting the process through photographs, drawings, maps and writings. Navarro's practice tests the limits of frameworks and formatting of artistic experience, creating situations and spaces that reflect the relationship between art and life.

Galeria Nara Roesler is a leading Brazilian contemporary art gallery, representing seminal Brazilian and international artists who emerged in the 1950s as well as preeminent mid-career and emerging artists who dialogue with the currents put forth by these historical figures. Founded by Nara Roesler in 1989, the gallery has consistently fomented curatorial practice while upholding the utmost quality in art production. This has actively been put into practice through a select and rigorous exhibitions program created in close collaboration with its artists; the implementation and fostering of the Roesler Hotel program, a platform for curatorial projects; and continued support to artists beyond the gallery space, working with institutions and curators in offsite shows. In 2012, the gallery doubled its São Paulo exhibition space, in 2014 it expanded to Rio, and in 2015 it opened in New York City, continuing its mission to provide the best platform for its artists to show their work.
